

Editorial Policy

Last updated: 9 October 2026

Who publishes OnsaFX News

OnsaFX News is the official newsroom of OnsaFX and is published by OnsaFX (Pty) Ltd. Readers should keep this in mind when weighing what we publish.

What we publish

- Company announcements: news, product updates and press releases from OnsaFX. These are labelled "Company announcement" and reflect OnsaFX's own position.
- News and analysis: reporting on forex, markets, regulation and the brokerage industry, based on public, verifiable sources.

How we source

We rely on official statements, regulator and central bank releases, company disclosures and established news agencies. We link to original sources wherever possible. When something cannot be independently confirmed, we say so and use careful wording, such as "alleged".

How we review

Every article is reviewed by an editor before publication. Figures, dates, quotes and claims are checked against their sources. Company announcements are also approved by OnsaFX's compliance team before they are published.

Independence and conflicts of interest

OnsaFX owns and funds this publication. Reporting on other companies is based on public sources and is not written to serve OnsaFX's commercial interests. Sponsored content and affiliate relationships are clearly disclosed. Team members who also work for OnsaFX state this in their author profile.

Corrections

See our Corrections Policy.

Contact

support@onsafx.com | Contact page